Building Sustainability through Industry and Enterprise Relationships

Presented by Walter Gilmore
ACPET Mission Statement

• Enhance quality choice, innovation and diversity in Australian education and training for individual, national and global development.

• Work proactively and cooperatively with government, education and training providers, industry and community organisations, in order to ensure that vocational and higher education and training services provide choice and diversity, and well targeted, appropriately delivered courses which are widely accessible and of high quality.
Queensland, South Australia and New South Wales

Gold Coast, QLD

Bowen Hills, QLD

Fortitude Valley, QLD

Hindmarsh, SA
Certificate and Diploma Courses

- Automotive
- Building and Construction
- Business and Management
- Community Services
- Electrical
- English Language
- Engineering
- Health and Nursing
- Hospitality
- Manufacturing
- Processing
- Resources
- Retail
- Training and Assessment
- Transport and Logistics
Industry and Enterprise relationships
We’re invited into an organisation to work with that business:

• To help identify their business needs and goals,
• To discuss, and then agree the training needs of the business,
• To develop a customised training plan for that business,
• To develop a training plan that is flexible and incorporates all the different training options,
• To identify the funding sources for that training program,
• To deliver that training, and
• To continually review how that training is helping the business to achieve its goals
The result of that simple process is:

- Business is more committed to the real benefits of training - because that training is directly aligned to the goals of the business,

- Employees are more committed to the real benefits of training – because that training is helping them in their employment, and

- The benefits of training are easier to measure when training is directly linked to company goals – and company achievements
Traditional Trades Training

United Group Limited

STOUE AUSTRALIA

Rio Tinto

Our Experience - Your Education
Health and Nursing

The Wesley Hospital
Caring for you for life

UnitingCare Health
Rio Tinto Sites in Australia